27 engagements in 3 years

Lucca

I've been working with Lucca since 2023, reporting directly to the heads of each business suite. It's an HR software company with 13 modules and over 7,800 clients, which means every design decision ripples across the entire ecosystem. I work on very different registers depending on the engagement: design system (shared components, cross-cutting patterns, guidelines), product creatio...

Synaxe

DUNE was positioned as a software overlay for sensors on cement trucks. Digging deeper, the real problem wasn't technical but regulatory: operators handle hazardous materials under strict compliance constraints that aren't adapted to field conditions. We pivoted to a management and compliance tool, and I delivered the mockups and specs for the new product. Six months as on-...

Guinet-Derriaz 1912

An industrial marble group — fourteen quarries, around ten million euros in revenue, international presence, and no information system. I built the IS from scratch on a €100k budget (which is tight for the scale of the problem), formalised the product catalogue and set up tools for sales and operations, so that teams who had each been working in silos could operate on a common foundation. One year at two days per week.

UBAQ

The NTU platform had been accumulating friction for a long time, there was no UX profile in-house, and the product team was in permanent firefighting mode. I ran a full audit (internal interviews, problem mapping, diagnosis of poorly understood mental models), then delivered correction mockups and a revised roadmap. The team got out of crisis mode and the navigation redesign...

Earlier roles

Lucca Employee nº 10, 2011–2014

First UX designer — I created the Design and User Experience department. I redesigned the onboarding flows, which went from three days of implementation down to 45 minutes, and started and improved several products that later became the Lucca suite.

Raised €100M · One Peak (2022)

Ornikar Employee nº 8, 2014–2016

First product manager on the regulated driving licence market, with strong constraints on what can be done online. I recruited the tech team, designed the student and instructor flows, and pushed a prioritisation focused on friction reduction over acquisition. In eighteen months we went from zero to 15,000 paying users.

Strategic Design Award (2015) | $145M raised 2018–2021

monbanquet.fr Head of Product, 2017–2019

An online caterer with independent artisans. The core problem: creating a custom quote while respecting margins and non-deterministic operational constraints (picking routes, deliveries, kitchen capacity). I designed the sales tool, which produced a personalised menu in thirty minutes where competitors took days. The CEO at the time says it's what saved the company....

Acquired by B2B Food Group (2020)

zoneadsl.com Head of Product, 2019–2020

1.2 million visitors per month, a monolithic system. Redesigned acquisition flows and CMS, data-driven decision-making, contributed to migrating toward a product-oriented organisation. The information architecture I designed is still the one used on the site today.
